

JUST REPORT July 7th 2025

First of all big apologies for the mix up with links this week. Last week we thought we had an infiltrator, so I changed everything. Turns out we didn't, and apologies to the poor comrade who got the rough end of it... We are all jittery at the moment.

This beautiful picture on healthcare worker Ahmad Baker's social media was deemed antisemitic by his employers at Whipps Cross. Watermelons are of course a symbol of resistance, but are usually seen in cartoon form on banners and posts. What else are we not allowed to look at? He is suing them. Read more here.

- Proscription issues. We had an animated discussion about the implications of banning a civil disobedience group. For those of us who think ordinary people are unlikely to be at risk, note that a childcare worker was arrested and held for writing on the pavement in chalk outside the General Dynamics factory in Hastings because she had committed. "Criminal damage with a rock". See summary here about what is allowed from We Do Not Comply. Talk or write to your MP to ask them how your civil rights and free speech are affected by the ban which is extremely vague. As they were the legislators they should have considered this. Defend Our Juries is organising weekly protests on Saturdays to co-ordinate the opposition.

🗨️Fight Proscription – Show Your Support 🗨️ Last Saturday, we witnessed the first proscription of a direct-action protest group in UK history. Only hours after, a group of 29 people opposed the legislation by showing their unwavering support by silently holding signs in Parliament Square. All were arrested and released on bail. The media is turning in our favour, with the Met Commissioner under pressure for the arrests. It's time to step up and it's time to take this national. Come and hear the rationale and plan for upcoming Saturdays! See below UP AND COMING.

Teva are an Israeli company operating in occupied territories, and linked to the military-industrial complex...This is a Boycott Disinvestment Sanctions movement. The medications are generic so we can easily find alternatives. Factories are on occupied land... and linked to the medical-industrial complex. Sudocreme is one of their products. Patients can ask for a NO TEVA note to be put on their prescriptions, if there is an available alternative. See Annex 1 for leaflet.

- Red Line for Gaza Join through Oxfam here . Email your MP each week a different topic, letter sent to you and you forward. Contact info@redlineforgaza.org.uk Note that one problem is that you can't customise the email, which is designed to ask ONE SIMPLE QUESTION. However, this does make the action very easy. This campaign is supported by several different humanitarian organisations, further information at their website <https://www.redlineforgaza.org.uk/>. There are also RED LINE actions around Parliament and locally see UP AND COMING

- Priscilla told us about the brilliant film To Kill a War Machine about the courageous actions of the relevant anti-genocide activist group. Note this film has now been removed online because of the ban so we cannot see it.
- Christian Zionist involvement in Gaza Humanitarian Foundation– Priscilla reminded us that for evangelical Christians, a Palestine that is completely Jewish, and a period of great suffering, is fundamental to their belief systems. More about the genesis and organisation of the GHF here. Really great discussion on Christian Zionist racism and challenging their use of the Bible to justify genocide here.

- Sing for Sumud. Pat sent the list of songs provided by the group Protest in Harmony. Go to www.protestinharmony.org.uk. Then go to the Catalogue of Songs and if you scroll down to G, you'll find the Gaza Vigil Songsheet. The group has been going for 20 years or more and they've accompanied demos, vigils, other gatherings since the Iraq invasion. It was initiated if I remember correctly by a couple of local Quakers, who still sing. Other Quakers are involved but it's open to all. Several members of the Iona Community which has a special concerns subgroup on Palestine-Israel, also attend.

[2] Red Line for Gaza campaign: Thursday 10 July action

[2]Parliament Square [2] 10:30 [2] wear red

On Thursday July 10, the Red Line for Gaza campaign is partnering with the British Medical Association, Medecins Sans Frontiers and other healthcare charities to highlight the many red lines that have been crossed on healthcare. Supporters are asked to join doctors, nurses, healthcare workers, MPs, and celebrities to form a human red line around Parliament Square. Testimonies will be read out from healthcare workers in Gaza. The event will be both livestreamed and recorded. N.B. this is not happening on Wednesday as previously advertised as there's a big climate protest happening outside Parliament that day.

Can you join?

If so, please arrive from 10:30 and wear red. If you are a healthcare worker and feel comfortable doing so, please wear medical symbols/scrubs/identifiers (e.g. stethoscopes, scrub caps).

Not in London?

If you have any healthcare workers in your family or other supporters around the country who want to participate but can't come on the day for whatever reason, please ask them to take a photo with any colleagues in their hospitals, pharmacies, GP surgery, universities, homes, etc forming a line and holding up written signs saying their red line (e.g. "Bombing hospitals is a red line," "Health workers are not a target"). Please share that photo on social media at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday July 10 with the hashtag #RedLineforGaza and an optional brief sentence elaborating on why they are drawing a red line.
